27. to save
28. goal
29. ... make it easier to produce food near our homes.
30. I think someone needs planning and organization skills to start an urban farm because space is usually small and must be used wisely. They also need knowledge about plants, soil, and water to help crops grow well. Patience and problem-solving are important too, since farming in a city can have many challenges like limited sunlight or pollution.

22. C    23. E    24. B    25. D    26. C
27. to suffer
28. special
29. ... protect butterflies, focusing on the ones in danger.
30. If butterflies continue to disappear, many other animals might suffer because butterflies help pollinate flowers. Without them, some plants would not grow well, and animals that depend on those plants for food could struggle. This could harm the balance of nature and affect the whole ecosystem over time.

SİNAQ 26

1. C    2. B    3. C

22. A    23. A    24. E    25. D    26. C
27. to destroy
28. to hold
29. ... harm the environment in ways we still do not realize.
30. If we destroy parts of the deep ocean too quickly, many sea creatures could lose their homes before we even discover them. The deep ocean also plays an important role in keeping Earth's climate balanced, so harming it could make global warming worse. We might also lose valuable resources and knowledge that could help humans in the future.

27. to treat
28. peaceful
29. ... survived by hunting and picking plants.
30. I think living in big cities can make people more rushed and less patient because life is very busy. At the same time, cities bring together many different cultures, which can help people learn to be more open-minded. So, city life can sometimes create stress, but it can also teach people respect and tolerance for others.

SİNAQ 28
